

Shenandoah Recombinant Proteins

Optimize cell proliferation and differentiation for immunotherapy research

Activate cells of various types for a wide range of research applications

FUJIFILM Irvine Scientific provides a superior and affordable source of recombinant cytokines and growth factors to the academic, early discovery, and scientific research communities. We specialize in the development and production of recombinant proteins in Escherichia coli. Our cytokines and growth factors can be used in a variety of cell-based research and cell signaling studies.

To further meet your needs and save you time, explore our protein bundles of frequently used cytokines. Reach out to us about bundles tailored to your applications.
